

Legal Show Script – Indictment Addendum

Addendum to Indictment Narrative:

Following the initial series of crimes committed around 1990, including murder, fraud, and escape from custody, additional serious felonies occurred in the year 2000.

When the child victim turned 10 years old, both the mother and now-stepfather escaped federal custody. The stepfather attempted to murder the child by drowning them in a bathtub and brutally beating them, resulting in severe facial injuries. This incident took place in San Francisco County.

Subsequently, the child was forcibly transported (aggravated kidnapping) to San Mateo County in a deliberate effort to avoid prosecution and interfere with judicial proceedings in San Francisco.

The mother remains in denial and has acted as an accessory to the fact by concealing the stepfather's actions and continuing to benefit from fraudulently obtained city employment funds. Their continued deception and obstruction demonstrate their unfitness for guardianship and duty.

They are considered an ongoing danger to public welfare and pose a flight risk. Immediate arrest is warranted. The suspects should be held without bail and subjected to trial.

Enhanced penalties should apply due to:

- Failure to register as a sex offender,
- Escape from prison following sentencing under California's Three Strikes Law,
- Pattern of gang-like activity and conspiracy to harm government officials,
- Use of fraud to obtain governmental privileges (e.g., birth certificate manipulation),
- Heinous, calculated violence against a child.

All sentences, if convicted, should be served consecutively due to the calculated and egregious nature of the crimes, pattern of deception, and disregard for human life and the legal system.
